Sans Digital Launches iSCSINAS.com

Santa Fe Springs, CA – August 23, 2007 – Sans Digital, a leading provider of high performance storage subsystems, is delighted to announce the launch of their second website iSCSINAS.com. In addition to the original www.sansdigital.com, the new website focuses on providing storage solutions for small to medium sized business environments.

iSCSINAS.com is not only an online store, it is also a storage solution database. It provides users with a comprehensive overview of Hybrid iSCSI-NAS and Fibre SAN solutions, as well as related products. Aside from the initial Network Appliance models, iSCSINAS.com also introduces a Network Gateway series by using separate Network Gateway units and expansion storages (AccuRAID or EliteRAID series). Utilizing the latest 4Gbps Fibre Channel technology, iSCSINAS.com provides Fibre Channel (FC) Storage Area Storage (SAN) solutions with seamless integrations with existing server configurations. "The launch of iSCSINAS.com provides storage information on a more personal level, for those in need of customized storage solutions" stated Grandy Chen, Executive Vice President of Sans Digital. "The Storage Solutions link leads to a list of white papers containing more storage solutions suitable for various situations. iSCSINAS.com offers virtually limitless possibilities to fit every storage need."
